

Network Analysis and Ethnographic Problems:
Process Models of a Turkish Nomad Clan

Douglas R. White and Ulla C. Johansen

Lexington Books

Network Analysis and Ethnographic Problems: Process Models of a Turkish Nomad Clan

(graphic for the back cover)

Paul Pangaro 1990, Course Description (Cybernetics)

Network Analysis and Ethnographic Problems:
Process Models of a Turkish Nomad Clan

Douglas R. White and Ulla C. Johansen

With a foreword by Andrey Korotayev

iv
Copyright page

Dedicated to the memory of Thomas Schweizer, whose stimulating creativity brought us together in this work

(Notes on placement of photos)

Frontispiece: June 14, 1957, the memorial feast of patriarch Fındıklı Abbas (840, lineage #2), after 40 days, attended by most of the family heads. Some of those in competition with the brother of the deceased who became tanıdık kişi that same year, like some of the Kırbaşı lineage (#4), did not attend.

Ethnographic and Leadership Patriarchs

Chapter 3
Chapter 6

Contents

vii

Foreword by Andrey Korotayev	ix
Preface and Acknowledgments	xiii
Chapter 1 Introduction: Networks, Ethnography and Emergence	157
Chapter 2 Problems of Analysis	59 96
Chapter 3 Ethnographic Setting	97 108
Chapter 4 Theory, Rules and Exceptions	109 122
Chapter 5 Network Models and Complexity:
Measures, Graphs, and Context	123 158
Chapter 6 Clan Structures and Dynamics	159 218
Chapter 7 Marriage, Rank and Migration:
Fractality in Social Structure	219 284
Chapter 8 Demography, Structure, and Social Change	285 309
Chapter 9 Decentralized Leadership and Network Cohesion	311 361
Chapter 10 Graphic Approaches to Nomad Solidarity:
The Endoconical Clan	363 392
Chapter 11 Conclusions	393 426
Glossary	427 446
Appendix: The Nomad Genealogical Data and the WWW	447 451
Bibliography	453 468
Index	469 4??
About the Authors	4??

